Geneva, Switzerland, May 11, 2023 – Gender equality, sustainability, inclusion, and global harmony, are becoming possible in entirely new ways. The C-SPOC, Global Citizenship Forum (GCF), and Women's International Networking (WIN) are excited to announce their continued collaboration for the second year in hosting a premier global forum, 'Women Pioneering Global Harmony,' that celebrates the remarkable contributions of women worldwide in shaping an inclusive and prosperous future. The meeting aims to explore innovative ways for women to pioneer a sustainable, peaceful, and harmonious future for all, with a focus on accelerating global harmony.

The event is bringing together top women and men, NGO's, UN agencies, Fortune 500 companies and Thought leaders in the global arena to celebrate the incredible efforts of women all over the world in creating an inclusive and thriving future. The focus is on the new-era authentic, sustainable, peaceful, and harmonious leadership. The Forum will delve into critical topics such as achieving peace, safeguarding the environment, and fostering a more robust economy.

The event is hosted by the C-SPOC, an UN-accredited NGO that builds self-sustained solutions through integrating health, education, and enterprise. The C-SPOC President, Dr. Royston Flude, is a well-known thought leader who has been instrumental in bringing self-sustainability into the United Nations agenda since the 1980s, says: "I am proud to say that at C-SPOC, we have witnessed firsthand the power of integrating Health, Education, and Enterprise with Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion to drive long-term positive change. We firmly believe that grassroots change is the most effective way to achieve gender equality, sustainability, and global harmony. By empowering women and promoting Emotional and Spiritual Intelligence, we can pave the way for a brighter future based on trust and constructive relationships."

New research reveals that inclusive businesses are twice likely to meet or surpass performance expectations. They are also six times more likely to display innovation and agility and eight times more likely to drive better business outcomes. Additionally, having three or more women on a company's board can lead to improved financial performance.

The event is presented by the Global Citizenship Forum and Women's International Networking, two organizations that came together in 2019 to expand their visions of a world where everyone flourishes.

Dr. Rajarshi Bhupendra Modi, film producer, author, and founder of Global Citizen Forum, based in Singapore, leads the Global Citizenship Forum. His organization works to build a better planet based on interconnectedness, collaboration, and unity.

Dr. Modi, who earlier this year was bestowed the prestigious title of Raja-Rishi, by one of India's highest divinity leaders - the Shankaracharya, says: "At Global Citizen Forum, we believe that each person has the power to make a difference beyond gender, by embracing their uniqueness. We strive to promote citizenship that stands for freedom, representation, equality, responsibility, sustainability, and impact. Leading the Global Citizen Forum and collaborating with WIN is a great undertaking and a step towards improving global citizenship for future generations."

Women's International Networking is a global mission-driven organization founded in 1997 and devoted to empowering and inspiring women around the world. Kristin Engvig, the founder of WIN, a thought leader in female leadership and a visionary advocate for empowering women around the globe, and a director of "Women Pioneering Global Harmony" said: "It's time for empowered women to lead by example, showing an alternative to the prevailing paradigm of competition and polarization. Working together with men who share our vision, we can create a more peaceful, sustainable, and harmonious world. This is a critical moment for humanity, and we all have a role to play."

The collaboration of these organizations brings women to the forefront and celebrates those who seek to embrace leadership on their terms. The event further explores women's leadership impact and how they can inspire others to live up to their full potential and leave a mark on their organizations, companies, and the world.
